

VERSE 1                      Old Man Of The Mountain(6)

G                                      C7                                      G                                      D
There are mountains in my soul, and there's a rainbow in my heart
Em                                      C7                                      G                                      D
And the pain that I've endured, now keeps my world from falling apart.
G                                      C7                                      G                                      C7
Kept you close when I needed strength, I just praye7d to understand,
G                      D                                      G
And one day at a time I've become a man.
G                      C7                                      D                      C7                                      D
Now when I'm wrong I can say so , I make my amends,
D                      C7
I don't point a finger at my friends.
G                                      C7                      G                                      Em C7
And the lessons I have learned, that you passed on to me,
D                                      G
Help me in my struggle to be free.

VERSE 2

G                                      C7 G                                      D
Well there was fire in my eyes when I was a young man,
Em                                      C7                                      G                                      D
I was trying to find my way, trying to do the best I can.
G                                      C7                                      G                                      C7
I looked up at you standing tall and it meant so much to me,
G                                      D                                      G
Through your life I saw what I could be.
G                      C7                                      D                      C7                                      D                      C7
And now I can let go, what will be will be
D
I've walked the walk and now I see.
G                                      C7                                      G                                      Em C7
I'm standing on solid ground that you share with me,
D                      G
You have passed on your serenity.

CHORUS:

G                    D                    G                    D
Old Man of the Mountain I see you in the horizon of the sky,
G                    D                    G                    D
And I need someone to look up to, To understand your footsteps wise.
C                    G C7                    G
And I want someone like you, to help me stay strong and true,
D                    G
Old Man of the Mountain I need you.
D                    G
Old Man of the Mountain I need you.
